Purpose of This Request

I am requesting company sponsorship to participate in the Empowering Leaders Masterclass (ELM), a 12-month, executive-level leadership development program designed to strengthen decision-making, leadership presence, and influence in complex organizational environments.

This program directly aligns with the leadership capabilities required for my role and supports our organization's priorities in performance, cross-functional alignment, and leadership succession.

About MPowered

MPowered is a leadership development and executive coaching firm focused on building confident, aligned, high-impact leaders. Founded by Ellen Miller, MPowered partners with organizations to strengthen leadership capability through practical, research-informed frameworks that improve decision-making, leadership presence, and cross-functional alignment.

Program Overview

The Empowering Leaders Masterclass is a structured leadership development experience for managers, directors, and senior professionals who lead people, initiatives, and change. The program focuses on how leaders think, communicate, and operate under pressure and how those behaviors impact outcomes.

The program allows leaders to apply learning directly to real business challenges without stepping away from day-to-day responsibilities, along with other industry peers.

Business Value to the Organization

Participation in this program will provide immediate and long-term value to the organization through:

- Improved decision quality and clarity under pressure
- Stronger leadership presence and influence across teams and functions
- Enhanced alignment, accountability, and execution
- Practical frameworks applied directly to current business priorities
- Strengthened leadership capability and succession readiness
- Expand their peer network.
